

Brandon's 200 Word story

My alarm woke me up this morning; I really hate that alarm, especially when I'm having a dream about money and food. So I called my friends to hang out with them but not before I had my bath. Then I said 'bye mum' then went on my way.

I met my friends and their names are Shane and David.

So I made my way to the Southside centre. The centre was jam-packed with people doing bare shopping and making up a whole heap of noise. Children were shouting at their parents to buy them things from pound land. Young people from college were hanging out side KFC eating and chatting up girls. Shane, David and I love it here. I love it here because they have cheap stuff and good places to go and there are bargains.

I went to pound land and got cheap popcorn for a pound. David got some cheap tickets for the cinema film Shark Tale, and we ended up in there. The film made me laugh until my belly hurt and the popcorn made me burp. Our journey home was exclusive; we got to ride like kings as we were the only people on the bus. I got home to my mum and told her just what I told you. My story.

By Brandon