

The background of the image features two ceramic vases. The vase on the left is decorated with a comic book illustration of a woman in a white dress and hat, with speech bubbles containing text like 'HE BUT MAKE SAMPLE HOLES THE RIGHT WAY.' and 'THERE'S EXTRA MAKN THE BUDGET YOUR TO MY NEW WAS ONE KNOW-HOW MENT ALL RIGHT!'. The vase on the right has a tropical pattern with a parrot, a woman's face, and various plants. A semi-transparent white box with a purple border is centered over the vases, containing the text 'Specialist independent shops directory'.

INTRODUCTION

From groceries to the latest phones, there is no denying that the internet makes it easy to compare the price of shopping, and retail today is a fast-changing world. But in this fast-changing environment our local specialist shops provide a constant source of good advice, strong community relations, ongoing support and convenience. It is therefore my pleasure to recognise and celebrate their value in this directory.

Many of these businesses have been around a long time whilst others are new, but they all provide a service to the local community. We showcase some of the stories of the businesses in this publication and we pay tribute to the spirit of enterprise which is so evident throughout Wandsworth.

I believe that you will find this guide useful not only when in need of a service or product from one of the businesses but also in discovering new products and services.

There are many other good reasons why it is worth going local for some of your shopping and entertainment.

YOUR SPENDING BOOSTS THE LOCAL ECONOMY

Research shows that for every £1 spent with a small or medium-sized business 63p stays in the local economy, compared to 40p with a larger business.

The American Express study High Streets Ahead showed that over the last decade the rise in property values in or near town centres with a large number of thriving independent businesses was 17% higher than the growth in other areas with fewer independent traders. Colin Walsh, the Managing Director of American Express UK said: 'This report identifies what we're calling the 'shop small effect', which is the reciprocal benefit consumers can enjoy simply by supporting their local independent traders.'

INTRODUCTION

LOCAL IS QUIRKY AND INTERESTING

Small or medium sized businesses often stock items that are made locally and are not available elsewhere: buy a hat by a local designer and there is little chance of turning up at that wedding only to see the same thing worn by another guest! When looking for a gift it is worth remembering that quirky, one-off items are the forte of independent shops.

Local shops often support local food producers, distillers, brewers, artists and designers, which means you have the opportunity to buy products unique to your area.

YOU WILL BE SUPPORTING LOCAL ENTREPRENEURS

Independent businesses help to nurture local talent and innovation. Small businesses are quick to respond to the demands of customers, they can implement changes and new products much faster than large businesses. An additional bonus is that by suggesting new products and services customers have the ability to exert influence over the offer..

YOU HELP BUILD COMMUNITIES

Small businesses make a huge contribution to a community's identity; creating character and appeal. Entrepreneurs and small business owners are an integral part of the communities in which they trade - they often live in the community and therefore have the interests of their community at heart. Small businesses play important roles in local activities and initiatives.

YOU MAY GET BETTER DEALS, GOOD ADVICE AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

Independent retailers often reward their regular customers, they know their products and are able to make good recommendations. The relationship with the customer plays an important role in the success of a small business and at the same time provides the customer with a service and experience that is hard to replicate.

OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE AN INFORMED CHOICE

Major retailers and on-line businesses can often offer lower prices due to economies of scale. However, there is much more scope for wasting money on something which may not meet your expectations. Local businesses frequently have tasting events or provide samples for customers to try before making a purchase.

For all these reasons I urge you to use this directory and to support your local businesses. Christmas sales make up an important percentage of the annual turnover of businesses and lack of trade at Christmas can seriously damage small businesses. Use your local businesses.

SHOP STORIES

Fabrics Galore

52-54 Lavender Hill, Battersea SW11 5RH

Galore has been run and owned by Paul Johnston for the past 25 years. He has been in the industry from a young age; you could say it runs in the family... The shop takes its name from the shop his grandmother started in Skipton and his father's shop is still the best place to buy fabric in Bradford.

Having that much experience in the industry means that many of their suppliers go back generations. The benefits of these long-term relationships are what Fabrics Galore pass on to their customers, both in range and price. The stock includes designer fabrics, e.g. Liberty of London, Alexander Henry and others.

Paul travels far and wide in search of the very best, and you will also find him exhibiting at many of the big quilting and fabric shows nationally.

If there's anything that you admire, cherish or want to see more of, he'd love to hear from you.

Chesney's

194-202 Battersea Park Road, SW11 4ND

A CHESNEYS fireplace should be the best there is. That was our philosophy when we founded the company over 80 years ago and it remains the same today, says Paul Chesney.

The scope of the company's business has expanded exponentially since it was founded.

Chesneys was initially concerned with the restoration of antique fireplaces but a quantum leap was made in the early 90s with the move into the reproductions of period fireplace designs in stone, marble and iron.

Chesneys was the first company to make authentic reproductions of fireplaces available at an affordable price and to develop a sophisticated bespoke service for both classical and contemporary fireplace designs.

The company is unique in the collaborations it has forged with historical bodies such as The Soane Museum and The Lutyns

Foundation and the collections it has produced with leading designers such as Jasper Conran, Jane Churchill and Barbara Hulanicki.

Chesneys has also developed an award winning range of wood burning stoves and energy efficient gas fires and is recognised as offering the widest product range within its industry. The company has diversified into architectural stonework and projects have been secured worldwide for specialist items such as cantilevered staircases and classical stone facades.

Barking Betty

216 Battersea Park Road, London SW11 4ND

Beverly is passionate about animals, especially dogs and cats. She discovered her talents for grooming when she realised that the cuts of her two poodles (Coco, miniature and Pollyanna, standard) did not satisfy her aesthetic and technical expectations. None of the groomers that had groomed her dogs were able to give them that special stylish factor that she was looking for.

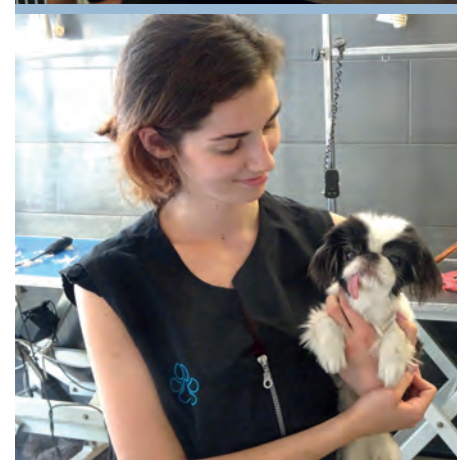

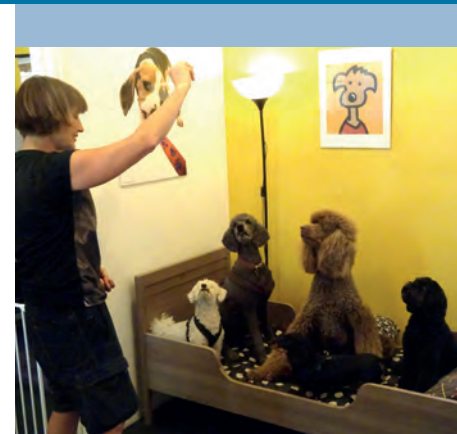

Always one to take up a challenge she embarked upon an intensive grooming course. Two years later, with the experience of hundreds of dogs behind her, she took the big leap and opened the Barking Betty dog grooming salon on Battersea Park Road.

From the earliest days, her clients have appreciated how much attention Beverly dedicates to every detail of their dogs and her eye for style. She enjoys creating a bespoke cut that reflects both your dog's personality and breed.

Your pets' welfare is close to her heart. She will advise you about its well-being and, if necessary, refer your dog to other specialised experts.

Responsible for day care, boarding and training, Ellie is an experienced dog minder and qualified dog training instructor. She makes sure that your dog enjoys feeling part of the Barking Betty pack. To this end, she is very attentive to its needs, first of all exercise.

She has a deep understanding of dog's behaviour. You can be sure that if your pooch has any problems she will be able to advise you how or train your dog to overcome them

Diana and George

250 Battersea Park Road, SW11 3BP

Diana: "I am a graduated psychologist from the University of Westminster, London. I have always had an interest in dog behaviour and the future of dog psychology. I thoroughly enjoy caring for animals and would tend to your furry friend with plenty of treats, walks, and play time with other friendly and good natured dogs like my Toy Poodle, Boris.

Should your dog have any special needs you can rest assured that they will be tended to with precision and care, so that you can go about your day without worrying about your loyal companion".

Djordje: "I've had the pleasure of spending my whole life with dogs, and became very active in dog communities as the years went on. I became a breeder for Poodles and English Cocker Spaniels, who later went on to become champions in many countries across the globe. I opened the first pet grooming salon registered in Yugoslavia in 1994, when I began to build on my experience in professional show grooming and handstripping.

I really do believe in the saying that if you choose a job you love, you will never have to work a day in your life."

Morrows

Putney Exchange, SW15 1TW

It was in 1912 that Albert Morrow opened his first shop. He was committed to providing high quality products and also appreciated the importance of satisfying the needs of his customers. It was for these reasons that the business flourished for three-quarters of a century.

In 2011 Philip Morrow re-established his great-grandfather's business. Although these are different times, Philip is intent on maintaining those same standards of quality and customer service.

The present aim of the business is to take the best of the past and combine it with a contemporary twist to fulfil the needs of the present day customer.

Morrow's socks, with 'hand-linked' toes, are designed by Philip and made in the Midlands by one of the few remaining independent hosiery manufacturers in this country.

As for the future, Philip's aim is for the brand name of 'Morrows' to be synonymous with quality merchandise from head to toe.

Natural Law

97 Lavender Hill, SW11 5QL

When Leo and Nils – the couple who own NL – started their silversmithing studio Daya Daya at the Battersea Business Centre in 2016, they wanted their products to reflect their firmly held beliefs about how small businesses should be run. The studio specialized in hand-crafted and upcycled bespoke jewellery, and every piece was made on site using ethically sourced silver. Daya Daya still operates this way, but has now developed into a far more diverse and ambitious business altogether.

The right-hand side of the window shows off a vibrant range of stylish apparel from a number of independent designers (like abella, SCRT, Dr Banana, Chillworks) all of whom share NL's core beliefs about quality and sustainability. The left-hand side boasts jar upon jar of beautiful, raw, hand extracted Hard To Find™ honey – alongside cold pressed, unfiltered olive oils from The Extra Virgin company.

There's even some extremely charitable homemade jam for sale: 75% of the profits from the £4 jam go to a disaster relief charity called ShelterBox, who help provide temporary homes and vital equipment for families affected by natural disasters and conflict.

On the inside you find an even broader range: from organic soy wax candles by Charlotte Lipsius and holistic luxury creams by Mimo Cha, to polished wooden skateboards by Backbone and terrariums by the Plant Lab.

Natural Law's entire raison d'être is to remain genuinely ethical, sustainable, and considerate.

Hali.H

109, Upper Tooting Road, Tooting, London SW17 7TG

The owner of Hali.H boutique on Tooting High Street, Shabina Asim, says "I am very grateful to have been born and brought up in the fabric trade. I was always eager to rush home after school and help out with the family business. I quickly picked up the reigns and was soon travelling abroad and training staff at the age of 18. This all took place in what I like to call 'The heart of South West London', Tooting."

Following this exciting and fast paced period of her life, Shabina took a few years break in which she was blessed to have the honour of becoming a mother to her two children. Shabina and her husband then decided to take a step together to start up their own business.

Having three shops around London they decided their heart was still in Tooting; so they bought their first shop there in 2008. Ten years later they are still proud to have three clothing shops. However, Hali.H was a brand new concept, as Shabina saw there were not many shops selling a wearable and affordable range of clothing aimed at young women who wanted something new. From observing that gap in the market, HALI.H was born.

Some advice Shabina would like to give new businesses would be: 'Be prepared to follow your heart and be willing to work hard. Believe in your ideas and everything is possible!'

Minar Jewellers

181 Upper Tooting Rd, SW 17 7TG

Pravin Pattni, owner of Minar Jewellers in Tooting, was born in a family of jewellers and so it was a natural attraction for him to continue this tradition. The idea of the creativity and the fashion element of the jewellery business always fascinated him.

The business was started in 1977 and Pravin opened his first shop in Streatham. In 1986 he noticed Tooting and so moved his shop to the town.

When asked what is the key his success on the high street, Pravin's response is "don't wait for the customer to come to you. Always think of ideas which will make him/her come to you". He added, "Our typical customer is the one looking for something unique and different. We pride ourselves on originality and are trendsetters."

Crazy Thumbs

100 Mitcham Road, SW17 9NG

As a teenager, Imran Saged used to help out at a family friend's shop and so one could say he was an early starter in the retail sector.

Before opening his shop on Mitcham Road in Tooting in 2014, Imran was an assistant manager at Game for some years, so had the skills and experience to start up his own shop. His customers vary in age and come from Tooting as well as further afield.

Imran still remembers what it was like when he first opened his shop. His top tips for a new business starting up is "tread carefully in your first year and manage your cashflow carefully as costs such as rent and rates can be high and when you're trying to establish yourself on the high street it is tough. Also, make sure you negotiate a lease with your landlord for a break clause in case you're not locked in."

Dugard & Daughters

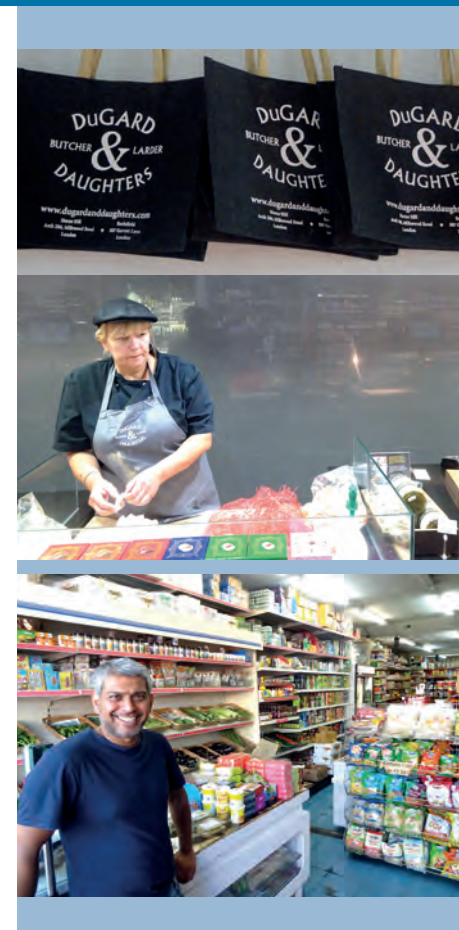

507 Garratt Lane, SW18 4SW

After Rosie Dugard had her second daughter Pearl, she was made redundant by the IT company she worked for and six months later her husband Neil also found himself in the same predicament. Their passion for great meat and sustainable quality produce led them to opening a shop in the railway arches beneath Herne Hill station. Today, in addition to their site at Herne Hill they also have a shop in Earlsfield. Dugard & Daughters is a butcher and larder unlike most others, for example, they dry age all their beef onsite for at least 4 weeks in their custom made dry aging chiller. Pork sausages are made in the shop three times a week from Gloucester Old Spot pork where the pigs have been fed on fine grain with no additives or growth promoters. The chickens are fully free range and slow grown to maturity, have had complete access to green pasture hedgerows and been fed on maize-rich additive free cereal. However, Dugard & Daughters isn't just a butcher and larder, it is so much more! They stock an extensive range of cheese – both English and Continental varieties, as well as beers from local craft breweries along with a range of wines and spirits.

Patel Brothers

187-189 Upper Tooting Rd, SW17 7TG

Mr Patel opened his shop in 1973 on the Upper Tooting Road when he realised that there was a huge demand for spices and groceries such as ginger, turmeric, green chilies, lentils, rice and so forth from the Indian community who had migrated from East Africa and were living in Tooting and the surrounding towns in South West London. Prior to buying the shop he had bought a van and would travel all the way to East London to buy these groceries that were not available anywhere else, for himself, his friends, family and customers. A shop in Tooting was the way forward and today, 46 years later, Patel Brothers at 187-189 Upper Tooting Road continues to thrive and the business flourishes as one of the go-to places in Tooting for South Asian spices and groceries.

MiniPotters

Capturing a baby's special moments on painted ceramics and bespoke clay impressions can be a wonderful keepsake. That's why Ellie who owns MiniPotters believes that choice is everything and so she has a wide range of pottery on which to print a baby's prints. MiniPotters help their clients identify what they want and how their little one's footprints will look best on the pottery. Clients can choose the colours they want from the large range available and can compare samples. The staff at MiniPotters who are well practised in getting perfect prints from little feet and hands will ensure the best possible footprint or handprint. The prints are then left for MiniPotters to fire and when ready, the client collects the pottery.
